EDITION 320 – 07 JUNE 2022

GLENN AND DAVID CLINCH OVER 70s PAIRS TITLE

Stuart, Carole, Glenn and David

It was a cold but pleasant sunny early winter's day when the Over 70s Pairs finals contenders filed onto the green. Glenn Boardman, partnered with 2018 winner David Madson matched against Glenn's life partner Carole Boardman and skip Stuart Smith. Glenn and David conceded Carole and Stuart a 7-point start on handicap. Both teams were in dazzling form leading into this much awaited clash. The jaunty saunter of the players onto the green belied the premature ending to a great match due to an accidental fall by Carole.

Glenn and David bolted out of the gates and quickly reined in their handicap to lead 12-9 after 6 ends. Carole and Stuart knuckled down with some excellent bowls of their own to trail 13-14 at the half-way mark (11 ends) before Glenn and David added 2 for a lead of 16-13 after 12 ends.

End 13 was perhaps the turning point in the match and the finest end from both teams. Carole and Stuart held shot (maybe 2 shots!) in a tight head. David then produced the shot of the match to trail the jack for 4 shots! Stuart – unperturbed, with his last bowl, landed a smashing drive running through a tad too much but saving 2 shots in the process. Glenn and David 18: Carole and Stuart 13.

Glenn and David had slightly the better of the next 5 ends and led 22-15 after 18 ends when misfortune struck. As Carole was corralling the bowls in preparation for the next end she unfortunately had a nasty fall cracking her head on the metal seating and injuring her wrist. Such was the pain of her injury she was unable to continue and both parties agreed to call it a day. At least for Carole half of the trophy found its way home!

All players had their special moments in the match. David had a particularly good game drawing exceptionally and playing well weighted shots to either trail the jack or wrest bowls. Glenn could always be relied upon for his consistency with his draw shots. Stuart has really honed his on shot skills and was always safe when a draw shot was required. Carole tried her heart out and tested Glenn on many occasions.

CAROLE'S POST GAME INJURY SYNOPSIS

Carole was in a lot of pain after her fall and spent the best part of Saturday night at the RNSH having treatment for two wrist fractures requiring a short arm cast. We all wish her well and hope to see her back on the green as soon as possible which unfortunately may be six weeks or more away.

The time-honoured Cliff Wright Trophy is with us again and this year's edition will be played on Monday 13 June 2022.

THREE BOWL TRIPLES
STARTS AT 12:30 PM
ENTRY LIST ON THE NOTICEBOARD

CONSISTENCY SINGLES NEARS THE BUSINESS END OF COMPETITION

Wednesday’s blustery and cold conditions did not discourage four very determined bowlers playing for a final four spot in the Consistency Singles.

In the first quarter final between Kevin Mulhall and Ole Hostup there was not a lot in the match for the first 14 ends where Kevin held a 6 shot margin to lead 73-67.

A 10-pointer on end 15 gave Kevin the winning impetus as he won all of the remaining 13 ends to book his place in the semi-finals where he will receive 40 points on handicap from John Lloyd.

Statistics:

Player (Hcp)	Points scored	Deduct Handicap	Game Points	Ends won	Ends lost	Ends drawn
Kev Mulhall (40)	152	0	152	15	8	4
O Hostrup (40)	118	0	118	8	15	4

The third quarter final saw Craig Marriott face off against Kay Mulhall. For the first 13 ends it was too close to call a likely winner of the match with Kay leading slightly 66-64.

With a result akin to the battle on the adjacent rink Craig then bagged a 10-pointer spurring him on to win 9 of the last 13 ends to win 159-111 after the final roll.

Craig will play either Glenn Boardman or Phil Wade in the 2nd semi-final.

Statistics:

Player (Hcp)	Points scored	Deduct Handicap	Game Points	Ends won	Ends lost	Ends drawn
C Marriott (40)	159	0	159	13	11	3
Kay Mulhall (40)	111	0	111	11	13	3

Appointment of Bowls NSW Ltd Chair

These appointments replace the inaugural pairing of Chair Matt Goodwin and Deputy Chair Pam Andrich throughout the first year of Bowls NSW.

LANE COVE GEAR UP FOR UPCOMING PENNANT SEASON

Two Pennant Trials were played last Saturday on a good green running in the order of 12 seconds with a light breeze in sunny skies.

Rex Johnston’s team of Vic Solway, Andrew Gordon and Chris Sinclair had a big win over Bob Patterson’s team of Mal Knight, David Erskine and Peter Zucconi coasting to the line 35 points to 14 points. Winning 12 ends to 9 ends Rex’s team combined well with an array of shots to put multiple points on the board for ends won. They had 2 ends scoring 5 points, 3 ends for 4 points and 3 ends for 3 points compared to Bob’s team scoring 3 ends with multiple points.

The other match between John Lloyd’s team of Scott Bonthrone, Greg Moon and Julian Barker against Phil Wade’s team of Ray Moran, Craig Marriott and Rohan Marshall was an even contest after 14 ends with the scores being 10 apiece before John’s team won 6 of the last 7 ends to run out comprehensive winners 21-12.

AUSSIE DESTINATIONS – Alstonville, NSW

Quiet town now part of NSW hinterland growth between Lismore and Ballina.

Alstonville is a pleasant hinterland town which lies between the larger centres of Lismore and Ballina. Surrounded by rolling hills where avocados and macadamia nuts are grown, it is primarily a service centre for the local population of around 5,000.

Location

Alstonville is located 733 km north of Sydney, 10 km west from the Pacific Highway and 19 km east of Lismore.

Origin of Name

An early settler, John Perry, named his house after his wife Annie Alston. The name became a byword for the area and it was a simple step to name the town Alstonville.

History

- * The district was settled by Europeans in the 1860s when cedar cutters moved into the area looking for timber.
- * By 1865 Andrew Freeborn and his brother Thomas had settled and were farming in the district which was known by the oxymoronic title of Duck Creek Mountain.
- * In 1873, John Perry, the local storeowner and postmaster, who had named his homestead and farm after his wife, Annie Alston, applied the name to the emerging township.
- * By the 1880s a town, known as Duck Creek, had grown to service the surrounding farmers. It had six stores and two pubs. The dominant industries were timber, dairy and sugar farming with four sawmills, nine sugar mills and, by 1900, there were four butter factories in the district.

Summerland House Farm

The House With No Steps was started by the quadriplegic Lionel Watts in 1956. It was created specifically as a place where physically and intellectually disabled people would acquire skills that would allow them to enter the workforce. The Summerland House With No Steps project, which started in 1972, is one of the most successful of all the House With No Steps projects - there are now 160 of them on the east coast of Australia. It offers its disabled trainees a range of skills. Summerland House Farm currently employs over 90 people in the Alstonville area. Spread over 172 acres (70ha) it is now an avocado and macadamia farm with monthly local markets and a number of tourist attractions designed to appeal to the whole family including mini golf and a farm tractor tour. They have shops where produce can be purchased - and it really is excellent produce ranging from plants to fresh foodstuffs.

Crawford House Museum

The town's excellent museum with its displays of "objects, archaeological materials, photographs, oral histories and texts which tell the story of Alstonville and surrounding districts. Baby scales used by Nurse Thomas, a wedding dress now on the Powerhouse Dress Register and women's handicrafts featuring not only tatting but yatting form part of our significant collection." Originally the home of William Ambrose Crawford, a fine example of an elegant Federation-era northern NSW timber house, it was built in 1911 and remained in the family until 1982. William's daughter lived in the town until 2018 when she died at the age of 99. It was sold to the Ballina Council in 1982, used as a baby health centre, and then in 2001 leased to the Alstonville Plateau Historical Society. It was officially opened as a museum in 2004.

Dalwood Falls

These falls are worth visiting for their peacefulness and their idyllic location in the rainforest. Although often referred to as dangerous, they are hugely popular with local youth who enjoy jumping from the sheer cliffs into the pool below the falls. The setting is attractive although difficult to locate because the falls are down a path in the bush and often the only sign of their location is a number of cars parked on the edges of Dalwood Road.

Victoria Park Nature Reserve

The Victoria Park Nature Reserve is a 17.5ha rainforest reserve with an 8ha remnant of subtropical rainforest. There is a pleasant boardwalk through the rainforest which is part of what was once known as the Big Scrub (some 75,000ha of untouched rainforest) which stretched from the coast inland. There are 68 different tree species in this small area including the 'Big Fig', a massive Moreton Bay fig. If you are lucky you might see red-legged pademelons, potoroos, water rats and possums.

JOKEs OF THE WEEK: Six retired men are playing poker together

Six retired men are playing poker in one of their apartments when Mike loses $500 on a single hand, clutches his chest, and drops dead at the table. Showing respect for their fallen brother, the other five continue playing standing up.

One of the men looks around and asks: "Oh boys, someone got to tell Mike's wife. Who will it be?"

They draw straws and Paul picks the short one. They tell him to be discreet, be gentle, don't make a bad situation any worse.

"Discreet? I'm the most discreet man you'll ever meet. Discretion is my middle name. Leave it to me."

Paul goes over to Mike's house and knocks on the door. His wife answers, and asks what he wants. Paul declares: "Your husband just lost $500 in a poker game, and is afraid to come home."

"Tell him to drop dead!" says Mike's wife.

"I'll go tell him," says Paul.

A police officer pulls over this bloke who's been weaving in and out of the lanes. He goes up to the bloke's window and says:

"Sir, I need you to blow into this breathalyser tube."

The man says: "Sorry, officer, I can't do that. I am an asthmatic. If I do that, I'll have a really bad asthma attack."

"Okay, fine. I need you to come down to the station to give a blood sample."

"I can't do that either. I am a haemophiliac. If I do that, I'll bleed to death."

"Well, then, we need a urine sample."

"I'm sorry, officer, I can't do that either. I am also a diabetic. If I do that, I'll get really low blood sugar."

"All right, then I need you to come out here and walk this white line."

"I can't do that, officer."

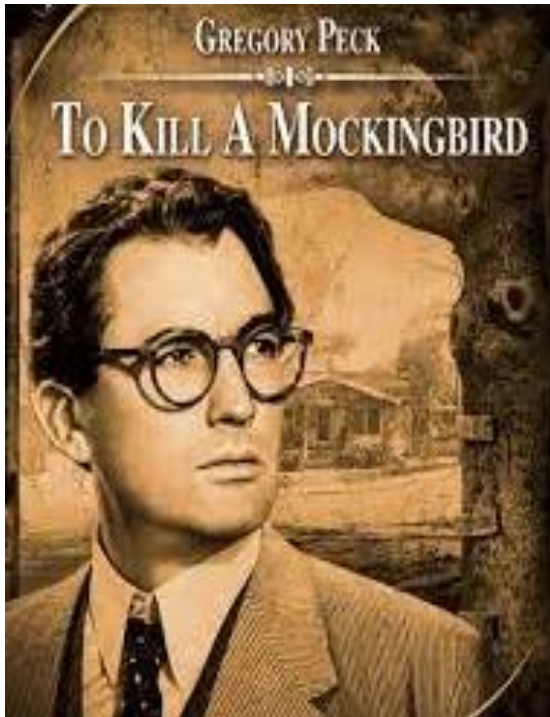

"Why not?"

"Because I'm drunk."

BEST LINE _____ S*1962*TO KILL A MOCKINGBIRD*1962

Scout Finch (Mary Badham), 6, and her older brother, Jem (Phillip Alford), live in sleepy Maycomb, Alabama, spending much of their time with their friend Dill (John Megna) and spying on their reclusive and mysterious neighbour, Boo Radley (Robert Duvall). When Atticus (Gregory Peck), their widowed father and a respected lawyer, defends a black man named Tom Robinson (Brock Peters) against fabricated rape charges, the trial and tangent events expose the children to evils of racism and stereotyping.

Atticus Finch: I remember when my daddy gave me that gun. He told me that I should never point it at anything in the house, and that he'd rather I'd shoot at tin cans in the backyard. But he said that sooner or later he supposed the temptation to go after birds would be too much, and that I could shoot all the blue jays I wanted, if I could hit 'em, but to remember it was a sin to kill a mockingbird.
